California Water Law & Policy

“California Water 2014: The Difficult Task of Prioritizing Competing Interests during the Drought and Beyond”

The drought is on everyone’s mind, and rightly so. Despite late rains, the state’s potentially disastrous multi-year drought conditions promise a dry summer for farms, communities and ecosystems. Prioritizing water needs in California has always been difficult, and this year’s reduced rainfall makes solutions even more crucial.

With this in mind, this year we focus our attention on local, regional, state and federal ongoing drought responses. To let you know what California is doing now and what the plans are for the future, we have Featured Presentations from Mark W. Cowin, Director of the California Department of Water Resources, Felicia Marcus, Chair of the State Water Resources Control Board, Senator Lois Wolk, and representatives from:

U.S. Bureau of Reclamation
California Department of Conservation
California Department of Water Resources
Governor’s Office of Planning and Research
State Water Resources Control Board
The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California

We’re also covering additional topics that tie-in to meeting the state’s ongoing water needs: water/land use connections; the water implications of fracking; the status of the Quantification Settlement Agreement and Bay-Delta Conservation Plan; and groundwater reliance, regulation and litigation. Gain practical insights from our distinguished Faculty of experts representing some of the state’s top law firms and key institutional players, including representatives from the following organizations:

Association of California Water Agencies
California Farm Bureau Federation
Center for Biological Diversity
Clean Water Action
Defenders of Wildlife
Natural Resources Defense Council

We have assembled for you the best and most useful two-day California Water Law Conference for 2014 and your participation will be crucial to your effectiveness as an attorney, water district staff or board member, federal or state government practitioner, consulting engineer, city or county counsel or planner, environmental organization representative, developer or agricultural business owner. This is a must attend event!

Be sure to register today for this very special event and find out what effect these critical topics will have on each other—and how potential outcomes could change your practice.
